The University of Wisconsin is excited to host the 2024 Pediatric Critical Care Regional Meeting being held May 22, 2024 in beautiful Madison, WI. This meeting provides a wonderful setting to present and hear about the latest scientific work amongst the pediatric critical care centers in the Midwest. We trust that there will be topics of interest for everyone! This interprofessional conference is designed to provide cutting-edge information and strategies for caring for critically ill children. We encourage abstract submissions that focus on a wide variety of topics within pediatric critical care, such as, but not limited to: research, quality improvement, clinical practice, patient safety, and education. We encourage projects that are still in progress and are particularly interested in trainee and interprofessional projects.
